MAcc: Forensic Accounting

The demand for high-level accounting leadership roles, especially those with a graduate education, are at an all-time high and are expected to continue growing at a rapid rate. Leadership roles are of greatest importance in modern day accounting. The need for accounting leaders to be ethical leaders and transparent in their daily business is critical to the long-term success of any organization. The Bureau of Labor Statics forecasts “faster than average” employment growth for accountants and auditors from 2014 through 2024.
